The Beparture of Louis Napoleon for Haly.—The Coming Struggle.

[From the London Times, May 19-2.]

Yesterday the Emperor of the French left his capital, to take command of his army. When these words were read by our fathers, some half a century ago, every one knew there was thunder in the air, and that the bolt would som fall; they knew also that the crash of sucked cities and cries of broken armies would soon beheard. It is not quite with the same certainty of haroc that we follow the flight of the tame-Eagle of the Bonaparte family. He has take all his possessions; he has left the Empress ait the functions of the regency, and has weighted them with those proper restrictions which he thinks necessary to prevent the operation of amiable weakness, or feminine irresolution. In matters of state, in his absence, he has left her his orders and instructions to guide her, and his photograph newly taken to console her. If we look back for a precedent for an event of this courtly impertimenc, we must rest upon the magnificent ceremonial which accompanied the departure of the uncle of the present Emperor, in the month of May, in the Immon year 1512. Then, also, an Emperor of France recommended to the protection of his people his wife and his one child, and went for ward in a plenitude of magnificence, which even Napoleon III. cannot yet emulsie, to take command of half a million of men in arms, and to direct the thunders of thirdeen hundred guns. Even the hung armies now on foot are not to be treen the men of the present of the present of the present countered to the protection of his people his wife and his one child, and went for mand of half a million of men in arms, and to direct the thunders of thirdeen hundred guns. grants, the stories of their sufferings on the ns made by interested parties as to the much to be regretted that common prudence Plains, to await pariently the result of thorough MODENA.

A dispatch from Providence, R. I., based upon private advices by the Vanderbilt, says that the Duchy of Modena has followed the eramples of Tuscany and Parma, by revolu Marengo itself was galised by 28,000 men, while in the campaigns of Wagram, Moscow and Leipsic, we have incomparably larger ar ies brought into the field on both sides. Now the war of 1569 begins on the colossal scale of the latter empire, and the armies employed m y obtain dimensions such as no single state has hitherto been capable of producing. Presuming the struggle to be confined to France and Austria, and to the field of northern Italy, we shall, have the spectacle of a combat in closed lists such as the world has never before witnessed. If both the antagonists fight well and stubbornly, the conflict will be as interesting to the military critic as grievous to the philanthro iss. Germany will have the effect of leaving both sides free to use all their strength against each other. That they will use it, there is no doubt whatever.

The seit of war adjoins the territory of each; railways and steamers transport their troops easily, and the long marches which enfechled and diminished armies in the days of Napoleon, will be avoided. Enormous masses of armed men can be taken to the country they are to fight in as comfortably as if they were merely making a change of quarters. With this facility of transport, and this power of using the whole of their great standing armies, we must expect to see two hosts gathered together on the plains of Italy, such as no two single States ever yet opposed to each other. The numbers we do not pretend even to guess at. The French are pushing troops over the Alps and loading their ships of war with soldiers for Genoa. The supply of food will be the only limit to the number which can thus be brought into the field. There is no doubt that the Power which sent a quarter of a million of men to Sebastopol withins eighteen months, will be able to send that number into Northern Italy. Considering that the whole of Italy, with 27,000,000 people, may speedily be in insurrection, and that Sardinia has some 20,000 troops of her own already, it may be reckoned without exaggeration that more than 200,000 men may, in the next two months, be put in line to drive the Austrians from their carefully chosen, and their now famous positions, in Lombardy. On the other hand, Austria can and will no doubt bring an equal force into the field. She does not want men, for the Empire contains thirty-three millions souls without counting the Italia provinces. If the Finance Minister can find the money to keep 200,000 men on foot in Italy, Gen. Guylia will find work for them all. They will be the men to fight with the spirit and does not want men, for the Empire Contains thirty-three millions souls without counting the Italy gen. Guylia will find work for them all. It is no wonder, then, that an ally of Despotism at once so powerful and so faithful abould be kindly treated by that form of Despotism which makes the American name a reproach and by-word among the nations. But if the Hereld sees no offense in stepping out to defend that system of administration—that kind of higher law—which admits, even when they are applied to temporal things, of no discussion of its acts and principles, upon the ground that they are the emanation of Divine Wisdom; which vests the Clergy with the irresponsible control of all State affairs, and which treats the people as beasts of burden, or as things which have no rights that priests are the mountain of the administration—that kind of higher law—which admits, even when they are applied to temporal things, of no discussion of its acts and principles, upon the ground that they are the emanation of Divine Wisdom; which vests the Clergy with the irresponsible control of all State affairs, and which treats the people as beasts of burden, or as the principles are the principles are the principles are the principles and the principles are the principles are the principles are the p

Humboldt then crossed to the tributaries of th

of the Andes, and made his fatnous ascent of Chimborazo. A visit to Mexice was his next undertaking, after which he passed through a portion of the United States, and returned to Europe in August, 1804. In 1805 he went to Italy, and witnessed the great eruption of Vesuvias in August of that year. His last great enterprise, a journey through Russia, Siberia and Tartary, was begun in 1828 and finished in 1820. Since that period he has resided chiefly in Berlin, publishing the results of his travels, and devoting himself unweariedly to science. His Coemes is undoubtedly the greatest work of modern times on physical science. His other principal productions are Views of Nature, Views in the Coedillersis, New Spain, Journey to the Ural, and Central Asia. He died in his native city of Berlin on the sith of May, inst, leaving a record of scientific achievements aecond to that of ne man whomsover. As the name of Baeon stands at the fountain head of modern science, as that of Aristotle covers the triumphs of the ancient world, Humboldt has carved himself upon the monitains and deserts of the globe as their most illustrious descendant in the priesthood of Nature.

Sejourning, for some time past, in the competies of Platte, Clay, Clinton, and Caldwell, I have repeatedly met large droves of negroes, ex-costs for Texas, accompanied by their masters. Indeed, the most silves alsveholder now acknowledges that that species of preperty will be us cless here in a few years, and they are being sent off in large numbers. But it is hard on such a movement should be undertake now and here. Indeed, we are credibly informed that conferences have already been held by leading patriotic gentlemen in this city, of all parties, and the plans of a Southern organization have been set on foot, and almost matured, preparatory to action. We carnestly the hope good work may go on, and speedily. The country, we repeat, is ripe for the movement, and, if judiciously innagurated, it will savesp over the land with a force that no opposition will be able to check. We therefore caution our friends in the country, everywhere, to be prepared for it, and to keep themselves free from all entangling alliances which may hinder them from joining it untrammelled.

These became discouraged resay have got emptoyment had not provisions been so scarce. These became discouraged returned without prospecting, and of ourse gave doiedu accounts.

The Col. and party left Denver City in a four mule ambulance, met six hundred wagons that would go through, one hundred and fifty more which would go by the way of Cherry Greek, through Chevenne Pass, to California, and passed fully eight hundred returning, not one-sighth of whom had been through to the mines. The most of them turned back at Kearney; a few ventured on to Bear Greek, within one hundred miles of the mines, and a still smaller number went within thirty miles.

Col. Henderson and Mr. Totten expect to return with their families between the 1st and 10th of next month.

icrmerly connected with the Elwood Press, is at hand, dated April 13, 1359.

We make the following extracts in regard to the filmes:

Lottil within the last twenty days the mountains have been so blocked up with snow and ice, as to prevent anything like successful prospecting. But since that time we have reported to be reliable. On all the streams flowing from the mountains, north of the Plate some of rich diggings, and which reports we believe to be reliable. On all the streams flowing from the mountains, north of the Plate and the mountains afrom which these streams flow? To attest this, shot gold has already been found for a distance of thirteen miles been found for a distance of thirteen miles been. We have well substantiated reports of ten dollar diggings having been struck about on or fifteen miles from the above named Canon.

It is true that every indication of gold in the mountains, north of Clear Creek Canon, equals that of California—this is admitted by many Californias, north of Clear Creek Canon, equals that of California—this is affirmed by many Californias, north of Clear Creek Canon, equals that of California—this is affirmed by many Californias who have been in the mountains, north of Clear Creek Canon, equals that of California—this is affirmed by many Californias who have been in the mountains, north of clear Creek Canon, equals that of California—this is affirmed by many Californias who have been in the mountains, hand men are returning to the States, what are the circumstunces under which they retrace their steps? Simply these: they came here just at the opening of apring, expecting men who have been here daring the winter to point them out rich diggings—disappointed in this, they that they retrace their steps? Simply these: they came here just at the opening of apring, expecting men who have been here daring the winter to point them out rich diggings—disappointed in this, they that their prospects and feel as agains to build, and when that was done winter had set in, and although on the pra retrenching process of Mr. Holt, whose shey do not appreciate, especially as it the depletion of their pockets some. On year. When the late Mr. Brown got contrivance for depleting the Treasury, exhausted, and imposing this additioning on a Borattern. boundary line, a correspondent of that paper replies as follwa:

You appear, Mr. Editor, to think it doubtful whether Americans will be allowed to navigate the Red River, anorth of their own boundary, as you state that the Hudson's Bay Company have power to exclude all lairuders, ess. British subjects, from the territory; but we know well enough, that the Company's actual power at the Red River settlement is now only nominal, and has ceased to be a reality, as the large quantities of their own furs annually sold on private account by the hardy trappers in the market of St. Paul, (in defiance of the decrees of the Fenchurch street magnates), and numerous other instances of independence on the part of settlers, clearly prove and convince the most seep-tical, that the palmy days of the Company in their Southern hunting grounds are gone for ever. The voice of the Red River colonists who have been so long shut out from the rest of the world has at last been heard, and their rights as British subjects, as men, and as Christians are beginning to oe respected both by the British Government, our own Canadian Government, and by the great and powerful mass of the British people, and surely if the Amircans join us, in the useful and noble work of colonization, which they as well as we so prfectly understand, British hearts are too lare, and too generous (even those of the Hudson's Bay Company) to be jealous of the worthy efforts of American, in so good a cause. The gentlemen about to place the first steamer on the Red River, are it must be clearly understood, not that detestable race known as Southern Filibusters, but peaceful and industrious pioneers of the them work while they benefit their own country will improve and develop ours also, so let them work consumers are to sure, and too generous (even those of the Hudson's Bay Company) to be jealous of the worthy efforts of Angericans, in so good a cause. The genulemen about to place the first steamer on the Red River, are it must be clearly understood, not that detectable race known as Southern Filibusters, but peaceful and industrious pioneers of the West which the different counties and towns were shown that he western route while we stited to the Eastern, and then both sections will be provided for.

The exclusion of a Company of industrious men who are about to put the first steamer on the Red River would be an act of injustice to the colony, a blot on the civilization of the nine-teenth contury, and such a proof of the inhumanity of the Company, which I sincerely hope we shall never witness.

Organizing for Disunion.

Will so on.—We noticed a train of severa wagons starting out yesterday for the mines. They were halled at every corner by the croak era, and warned not to proceed. After being annoyed in this manner for some time, the leader of the party informed the self-constitute prophets that he was going to the mines—b had started for Cherry Creek, and would go of the met a million on the way back.—B.

Desperate Fight with a Villain on Railroad Train. details of a most desperate set of villainy whice was perpetrized upon the New York and Railroad, on Wednesday night, and which doubt leas had for holest the robberty of the Unite States and, for the United States Express.

It is well known to those who have passes over the N. Y. & E. R. H., that along the hig onbankments near Pert Jerris, the trains with much slower than at any other point on the road, averaging only some eight or ten miles a hour. The Mail Agent and the Agent of the Express occupy the same car. Just before reaching the point designated, the former in vited the lister to go to another part of the train to smoke a cigar. Mr. Reck declined the invitation, and soon after threw himself upon plie of mail-bags, and fell into a partial sleep. How long he remained so, he cannot tell, but he was the probably but a few minutes only, when he was probably but a few minutes only, when he was probably but a few minutes only. How long he remained so, he cannot tell, but probably but a few minutes only, when he was awakened by something falling on his face, an upon arousing himself, he found a man standing over him with a spenge in his hand, asturates with chloroform, and though partially stupified Mr. Keck made a spring to his feet, and graspecthe villain in a desperate struggle. The fellow drew a pistol and exclaimed with an east that he would shoot him; but the Agent fortunately got hold of the weapon before the threat could be executed. A struggle then ensued, which Mr. Keck says seemed to last for half an hour though not probably exceeding five minutes.

got hold of the weapon before the threat could be executed. A "ruggle then enaued, which, Mr. Keck says seemed to last for half an hour, flough not probably exceeding five minutes.—Both were powerful men, and both fighting for their lives. Every particle of strength was put forth for the mastery, until by a fortunate accident, the contest turned in favor of the Agent.—In the atruggle the viliali was forced upon a pile of boxes, the uppermost of which gave way, and the parties fell to the floor together, Mr. Keck being uppermost. To add that he made good use of his vantage graund, would perhaps be une cessary. Mr. Keck although much exhavsted himself, beat him until he begged for mercy, and apparently became partially insensible.

Thinking he had given him his quietus for the present, Mr. Keck urned to seek assistance, and was in the act of pulling the bell cord to stop the train, when the villain made a rush to the side door of the cur and jumped out, and must have gone down a rocky precipice of 75 to 100 feet! at the foot of which runs the Delaware River. Whether or not be escaped with his life is not known, as the train was not stopped until it reached the next station, when the Agent was not stopped until it reached the next station, when Mr. Keck relaid his adventure with the desperado. When he arrived in this city yesterday morning, where he resides, his face presented abundant evidence of the use which the villain made of his hands. The design was, undoubtedly, to rob the mail, or the express.

B. W. Thomas & Co., EYE AND EAR. No. 7 Methodist Block, Corner Clark and Washington St. DR. UNDERWOOD, Much I feared that they were; and the more a for one reason.

All at once, and most inexplicably, Margaret's grandfather showed a total change opinion in his views as to her-marriage. In stead of faround Harrelstein's pretensions, a see had hitherto done, he now threw the feeble veight of his encouragement into Maximilian's cale; though, from the situation of all the pareautical; moody attached any practical importance the change in Mr. Leibenheim's way of time, g. No; one person did attach the greatest weight to the change-poor, ruined Ferdinand. He, so long as there was one person to take his part, so long as the grandfather of Margaret showed countenance to gimself, had still felt his situation not utterly himself, had still felt his situation not utterly CIGHT AND HEARING. grandinance to samples above to combinate the bimself, had still felt his situation but utterly desperate.

Thus were things situated, when in November, all the leaves daily blowing off from the woods, and leaving bare the most secret haunts of the thickets, the body of the jailer was left exposed in the forest; but not, as I and my friend had conjectured, hanged. No; he had died apparently by a more horrid death—but that of cruciffxion. The tree, a remarkable one bore upon a part of its trunk this brief but say age is cription—"T. H., jailer at—; Crusified July 1, 1816."

Agreat deal of talk went on throughout the city upon this discovery; nobody utte ed on word of regret on account of tweethed jailer; on the contrary, the voice of ver geance, rising up in many a cottage reached mears in every direction as I walked abroad. The hatred in itself seemed borrid and unchritian, and still more so after the man's death but, though horrid and fleudish for itself, was much more impressive, considered as it measure and exponent of the dammable of pression which must have existed to preduce it.

At first, when the absence of the jailor was a recent occurrence, and the presence of murder, excent occurrence, and the presence of murder, excent occurrence, revived to our anxious thoughts, it was an event which few almded to without fear. But matters were changed now, the jailor had been dead for months, and this interval during which the murderer's hand had slept, encouraged every body to hope that the storm had passed ove our city; and peace had returned to ou hearths; and the storm had passed ove our city; and peace had returned to out hearths; and the storm had passed over our city; and peace had returned to out hearths; and the storm had passed over anxiety. Once more we had peace within our walls, and tranquillity by our fir sides. Again the child went to bed in chee fulness, and the old man said his prayers screenly. Wheat; 156,692 bu. Corn; 144,282 bu. Octs and 34,561 bu. Barley.

The Brendetuffs markets during the weshave been very unsettled. Wheat has varied almost daily from 3 to 8c. per bushel, and a some instances a variation of 12c. per bushe ook place. The demand has been chiefly s eculative purposes, but shipments have been made to a greater extent than during the wee previous. The Market far No. 1 Red opened a week ago at $1.50, and declined to $1.43, when it again advanced to $1.62, and closed yesterday evening at $1.55 to 1.56. Corn has be a less fluctuating, and the demand has been chiefly for shipment; but the market has on the whole been duller and less active—open ag a week ago at 80c, for No. 1 and closing yes 10c. per bushel. Other cereals have been qui tive; but holders have not pressed their stock

To gratify him, the Alderman passed his resolution. But as it may be a fortnight before in again in session, we will take the liberty of anticipating the Comptroller's explanation, and state how the matter stands. Early last spring Mr. Robins agreed to loan the city $200,000 for temporary use. He was called on for $100,000 o the money April 18th; and on May 4th for $85.6 called on by the Compfroller for the balance which he paid, and the money passed into the hands of the Treasurer on hast Monday. At the very moment when Myers was offering his resolution, enquiring what the Comptroller has masseriously done with the funds, they were in the custody of Deacon Hanvar, city Treasurer or boing paid out by him to redeem city orders. As to the "$50,000 hound the cits. he As to the "$50,000 foaned the city by F. I W. How long will the 4th Ward continue to elect such men to office? to elect such men to office? THE POOR OLD HUMBUG.
